A Ghost that Haunts Them

But we do think that if a man has no other recommendation than his past record, he is not a candidate for the office of County Clerk for Fulton county, at the ensuing November election.

Stone has no other recommendation than a log from the Confederate army. Indeed, the charge has sometimes been made by others before the Forum's existence. Is it true? Have the ex-Confederate soldiers and their friends ever been so impudently as to elect Stone, or any other man, regardless of merit, ability or qualifications, only because he had one leg? Stone has been elected five times by the people, and if he be true that he has no merit, ability or qualifications, then of course it would follow, as this Republican paper argues, that he was elected, each time, only because he lost a leg in the Confederate army. The whole truth is that there is no element of our people more ingenuous in the matter of elections than our ex-Confederate soldiers, because in every election you find some of them voting for an old comrade and some of them choosing a citizen who was not in either army; they simply assert their sovereign right to vote as they please. In all truth the ex-Confederate soldiers form but a small minority of the actual voters of 1894. The grim reaper has already gathered the majority, and year by year more of their silent hosts are spread upon the eternal camping grounds, and could must be the heart that would defame the comradeship of the few who yet remain. All the elections of this year are in the hands of a new generation, men raised under different influences, to whom the past is only a tradition, but in it right that the ghost of the past should thus be conjured by a Republican paper to excite them to injustice.

CAN THIS BE TRUE.

The Cairo Telegram tells this: "About a year ago a young man and his wife, over in Kentucky, quarreled and thought they wanted a divorce. The husband was to apply for it and the wife was to make no defense. They hired a lawyer to take care of the case, and secure the divorce without publicity. They separated, but after a few months met again, kissed and made up, and were as very happy over the brightness of their honeymoon that they forgot all about the divorce. The lawyer, who was not informed of this new change in affairs, pushed the case, secured the divorce two months ago and then deliberately forgot to tell his clients. A few days ago somebody found out that the divorce had been granted and made complaint. The happy pair were thunderstruck when the sheriff swooped down on them and arrested them. They were released on bail and immediately proceeded to get married again. They are trying to even things up with the lawyer, the court, and the sheriff."

JOHN SHERRMAN has been on more sides of more questions than any other man in America. He is doubly hostile to an income tax, principally for the reason that it is proposed by the Democrats. In 1872 he expressed the following opinion in regard to the method of taxation: "I repeat that the maintenance of the income tax is an absolute necessity for any system of internal taxes. If the Senate and House determine, after full consideration, to repeal the income tax, I shall favor the repeal of all the taxes upon consumption that bear upon the great masses of the people. If I had my way, I would retain the income tax at five per cent, on all incomes above $1,000, making such modifications as would afford the proper exemptions, and then throw off these taxes upon consumption that oppress the poor."

Democracy vs. Paternalism

The following, from the Nashville American, contains truths that have been patent to all close observers and that ought to receive the most serious consideration.

Evidences accumulate that the Republican party is coquetting with the Populists as in the platform adopted by the convention held recently in many States. While the Republicans of Pennsylvania, Kansas, Maine and Ohio have in their conventions taken steps to seemingly bring the party and the Populists closer together, a look at the facts will show that the natural tendencies of both parties are to the same ends. The leading motive power of both parties is paternalism, and that carried to the extreme limit. The Populists make their cardinal principles the paternalistic ideas which have always been cherished by the Republicans. Centralization of Government, Government control of railroads, telegraph and commerce between the States which the Populists have so loudly advocated, they borrowed from the Republicans, and seem to be trying to out Herod Herod in their demands upon the general Government and their attempt to divert all government in this country into the channels of paternalism, making the general government the nation's wet nurse. It is not to be wondered at, then, that these two parties show such a desire to work together in the name of Democracy, for the true Democrat is an enemy of paternalism, and the thousands of his following in its train, and the Democratic party is resolved upon fighting these paternalistic advocates until the nation is freed from the evils which paternalism's supporters and advocates have brought upon it. The legislation which by the strong arm of the law, takes from the people money in the shape of taxes and puts this money into the pockets of a class as a tribute wrung from unwilling citizens under the plea of protecting American industries in the worst kind of paternalism, is but natural for the Republicans and the Populists to combine to defeat the only party which can well break down their wall of defense and make this Government a government for all the people and not for the currying of favored classes.

W. L. DANLEY,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent.

A negro was arrested in Tiptonville last week charged with killing her new-born babe. The body of the child was found in a pond near Mrs. Jim Tipton's residence, and gave evidence of having been strangled before it was thrown in the water. At first the woman strongly protested her innocence, but after her arrest she acknowledged to a neighbor of the child, that she had killed it. At last accounts he had not been arrested, but the officers were looking for him.

While at Fulton, Saturday last we were pained to learn of the serious sickness of Judge Ed. Starks, editor of the Fultonian. His health has been gradually failing him for some time, and his physicians have refused that the friends to see him. It is thought that unless a change soon takes place for the better that he cannot survive long. His death would prove a great loss to the community. During his illness his business affairs have been looked after by Mr. Ed. Bolinger, a clever and able young gentleman.

An exchange says that a good newspaper man will not descend to the level of a common gossip; he will give people what they like, without degrading himself and his column. It may be asked where he shall draw the line. That is the point which he as a good newspaper man must settle for himself.

An Editor's Owing.

Ye editor, in company with Mr. W. P. Taylor, attended the grand free basket dinner given by the Masons of Fulton, at Carr's grove, on Saturday last—St. John's Day. The day was a pleasant one, and everything had been carefully arranged, in order that everyone might enjoy themselves. The good people of Fulton are renowned for their hospitality, and upon this occasion they seemed to vie with each other in extending to all a cordial welcome. A vast concourse of people, including nearly all the county candidates, were in attendance, and nothing occurred to mar, in the least, the pleasures of the occasion. Hon. Judge Robbins, of Mayfield; Prof. Dean, of Marlin College, Clinton; Rev. G. W. Wilson, of C. C. Flournoy and Lee Collins, of Fulton, were the orators of the day, and gave the people some facts regarding the origin, growth and objects of this great, mythic order. At noon a beautiful supply of good things was spread upon the ground and every-body present was invited to partake thereof. The Hickman delegation and there was a number of them present, fared sumptuously, invitations without number being extended to them by those having provided baskets for the occasion. Among those conspicuous in looking after the wants of their Hickman friends we mention the names of Mr. and Mrs. Fox Collins, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Flournoy, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Usher, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Reid, Mrs. Carrie Mahoney, Messrs. Mike Taylor, Raymond Paschal, Mott Ayers, and a host of others whose names we might mention had we the space. It is needless to say that the Hickmanites appreciated the courtesies shown them, and should the occasion ever present itself will not be slow to remember their kindness.

There being several important meetings next day (Sunday) that portion of the county, our genial friend and companion suggested that we take in all the appointments, and we, therefore, concluded to remain over in Fulton that night. While there we were the guests of Mr. Marion Thomas and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Fox Collins, and to them we are indebted for much that went to make our stay pleasant and enjoyable.

Next morning bright and early we bade our Fulton friends good-bye and turned our pony's head toward the west. Stopping at the Creek church to take in the foot washing exercises of our good Baptist brethren. A large crowd was present, but, as usual on such occasions, we were denied the privilege of hearing the sermons, not being able to secure a seat in the house there being more than all the seats. This led us to remark that most of the churches in the country are too small to accommodate the people on special occasions. Having accepted an invitation to dine with our worthy and well-to-do friend, Sheriff M. D. Johnson, who lives near the church, we repaired to his beautiful home, and there, in company with a number of other guests, we enjoyed a feast of good things that would have tempted the appetite of the most fastidious epicure. To add to the charm of the occasion and to detract somewhat from the appetite of our bashful companion, W. P. T., we were honored by the presence of a bevy of young ladies, viz: Misses Mal Morton of Jordan; Carrie and Lou Bamage and Mary Anderson of Hickman. Also Messrs. Andy Reeves, Harry Judge and Percy Jones.

Having done justice to the beautiful repast, we bade our host and his excellent wife good-bye and started for Cayce to take in the Masonic celebration at that place. Arriving there we found a large concourse of people assembled in the large and commodious M. E. Church, a house of worship which would credit to any community. Rev. W. J. Carlton, of Cayce, Ky., preached the sermon. A large number of Masons were in the procession, including a number from Hickman and other towns.

At the conclusion of the sermon we again started homeward, stopping at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. W. Mayes long enough to refresh ourselves with a cool drink of water, and give our faithful little pony a few minutes' rest, after which we continued our journey, arriving home about 6 o'clock. Taking it all in all it was a pleasant trip, and one that will not be easily forgotten, for we were more deeply impressed with the fact that Fulton county is indeed rich—not only rich in her soil and the products thereof, but rich in that she is populated by a people who for knightly courtesy and generous hospitality cannot be excelled the world over.

Culled from Our Exchanges.

—A. J. Standfield, county clerk of Union county, Tenn., died at his home in Union City last week.

—Covington Commonwealth: There is enough for all in the world if it were only handed around. If we had our way we'd have every man, woman and child in this country measured for a bedstead.

—Dyersburg Gazette: The Supreme Court, sitting at Jackson, rendered a decision to the effect that county magistrates cannot hold court in the towns and cities, and that their magisterial duties must be confined to the district from which they were elected.

—Newbern Tennessee: Returns from the primaries held Saturday in the chancery division have been received and Hon. John S. Cooper has carried the following counties, which give him 102 votes and the nomination: Obion 27, Weakley 26, Dyer 18 and Gibson 31. Cooper carried nearly every district in the counties named.

—Fultonian: Mr. Trot Morris, who was indicted by the grand jury at the last term of court and vited to partake thereof. The Hickman delegation and there was a number of them present, fared sumptuously, invitations without number being extended to them by those having provided baskets for the occasion. Among those conspicuous in looking after the wants of their Hickman friends we mention the names of Mr. and Mrs. Fox Collins, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Flournoy, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Usher, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Reid, Mrs. Carrie Mahoney, Messrs. Mike Taylor, Raymond Paschal, Mott Ayers, and a host of others whose names we might mention had we the space. It is needless to say that the Hickmanites appreciated the courtesies shown them, and should the occasion ever present itself will not be slow to remember their kindness.

—Charleston (Mo.) Democrat: The trial of Wm. O'Bryan, of this county, at Hardwell, Ky., on the charge of holding up and robbing a train at Laketon, resulted Saturday in the acquittal of the defendant, and his discharge from custody. The trial occupied three days but O'Bryan's proof of an alibi was so strong that the jury was out but five minutes before finding a verdict for him.

—A serious accident happened near Oakton last Saturday when Robert Salmon had his back broken by falling from his horse. It seems that he was riding sideways when the horse became frightened at a hog lying in the fence corner, and suddenly jumping to one side, throwing Mr. Salmon in such a way as to break his back. He was in a critical condition last report.—Hard Times.

—Clinton Democrat: Will Barton, the young man who is in jail on a charge of burglary, concluded he would put a period to his ill-spent life Sunday, so he swallowed a considerable quantity of laudanum, which Jailer Platt had left in the jail. Medical aid was summoned and the would-be suicide was given an emetic which relieved his stomach of the poison, and soon he was himself again.

—Union City Commercial: Last Friday as engine 88 of the green line was pulling in a siding at Cayce at 8 & 9 freight crashed into the caboose. Conductor Long, of the green line, was in the caboose and sustained very painful but not dangerous injuries. Beyond wrecking the caboose no other damage was done to the railroad property, and Mr. Long was the only member of the crew injured.

—Under the old law a married woman, unless she had separate estate, could make no will except under a power conferred upon her by will or deed. By the Legislature which met immediately after the adoption of the new Constitution the wife for the first time in Kentucky, was empowered to make a will disposing of her realty. To this the last Legislature added the power to will her personalty, so that now she is exactly on footing with her husband in the matter.

—As a general thing, says the Madisonville Hustler, it is no very difficult matter to persuade the average American citizen that he is possessed of all the necessary qualifications to make a first-class office holder. After the citizen is persuaded of this fact, then it is exceedingly easy to get him to announce himself as a candidate for position. This done, unless he holds his purse strings with a pretty tight grip, it is no difficult matter to persuade him to put out his money among the boys who will spend it for him and then vote against him.

—The latest swindling scheme out is being worked on the farmers. Men representing themselves as officers are calling on the unsuspecting. They represent that the State law requires vaccination, and that they are sent out by the county. They vaccinate their victims charge 50 cents and skip out. The vaccine virus quills left at several places have been examined and the matter supposed to be virus, is nothing more than worthless paste. The scheme is a winner and the men working it are taking everything before them. They put up a very plausible story, and even the shrewdest might be victimized.—Paducah Standard.
